RECENT OPERATIONS

By Paul Rardin

During vacation week what could be easier than lifting a column from some other newspaper? The editor of the Pilot at West Warwick, R. I., gets discouraged every now and then about a publisher's lot—and recently he decided to tell his readers about it. In his paper he recounted his woes—in reverse—this way:

"It's easy to publish a newspaper. . . You never get tired. You never need a vacation. Your head is always clear. You're always bright as a silver dollar. Everybody writes in beautiful letters telling you what a nice paper you have. Everybody phones in news. You never have any trouble getting paper. Everybody pays you on time. You never have to remind people over and over again that their subscription is due. If you're late paying a bill, they say it's all right, let it go. You never make people mad at something you have written or haven't written."

"Your proofreader never makes a mistake. The front page always looks nice. The ads are always eye-catching. You just sit at your typewriter and write beautiful lines."

"People never say your paper is political. They never insist you're taking sides. They always agree that you're independent."

"Everywhere you hear people say you're a good guy. They always say you work hard. The waste baskets never fill up, so nobody has to empty them. The pressman never needs a helping hand to slip a new roll of paper into the press. Rolls of paper you receive are not torn, and you don't get any waste. Your mail galley never gets pied. People never think of asking you for favors that are entirely out of your reach. After every issue advertisers call up and say: 'Say, that was a honey of an ad you wrote for me last week. Thanks!' If an advertiser gives you copy announcing a week-end special, it's always sunny that week-end and very warm, and the buses are sure to run on time."

"You always have plenty of time to spend with the family. Your little boy never asks: 'Mama, have I really got a Daddy?' . . . Never do you place an ad upside down. When you misspell a person's name, he calls up and says, 'Forget it. It's all right.' . . . Oh, it's wonderful to be a newspaper publisher. It's so easy. So simple."

Methodists Repair Church Building

The board of stewards of the Pahokee Methodist church met at the Church Wednesday evening with O. B. McClure, chairman, presiding. It was announced that the new foundation for the church will be completed this week at a cost of over a thousand dollars. Arce Blakey, is the contractor in charge of repair.

Church Of God To Close Bible School

The vacation church school conducted at the Church of God in Pahokee will close Friday, August 27th, with a picnic being conducted at the city park in the afternoon and a religious sound picture entitled, "The Life of Christ", being shown at the church auditorium Friday at 8 p. m.

Mrs. J. M. Gresham was superintendent of the school and classes were offered to children from the primary department through the junior. Officers assisting Mrs. Gresham were: Mrs. Tommy Miller, primary department; Miss Joan Gresham, and Mrs. Joe Waddell junior girls; Mrs. J. P. Epperson and Mrs. Gresham, junior boys. Other assistants are: Miss Joyce Peacock, secretary and Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Adkins, teachers.

Hialeah Trained Horses Outstanding

MIAMI—If any more proof be needed, the success of Florida-conditioned 2-year-olds again this summer clinches all arguments as to the value of wintering young race horses in the state. Headed by Jack Skirvin's Algasir, 11 precocious juveniles who were wintered at Hialeah won a total of 14 blue ribbon stake races through August 2.

Algasir, winner of Saratoga's historical Flash Stakes, is the nimblefooted youngster who set a new world's record for four and a half furlongs in June at Belmont Park.

Three of the juveniles have won two stakes each. Olympia, owned by Floridian Fred W. Hooper, scored in the Joliet and Primer; A. T. Simmons' Eternal World in the Remsey and Youthful, and Egretta in the Narragansett Nursery and Betsy Ross.

A total of 34 Hialeah-trained races—including the juveniles—won 53 blue ribbon stake races through August 2. Calumet Farm's Citation—a greater horse than Man O' War in the opinion of many experts—alone accounted for seven.

Dr. Blackburn To Visit Local Church

Dr. Henry W. Blackburn, Miami district superintendent, will conduct the first quarterly conference at the Canal Point Methodist Church on Sunday, August 29th at 8 p. m. Dr. Blackburn will also deliver the evening service. Reports will be given by the pastor, the Rev. R. A. Fuller and officers of the church.

The Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service meeting scheduled for September 6th has been postponed until September 13th because it falls on Labor Day.

Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Armstrong who have been spending two months vacation touring the country and visiting relatives will return to their home this week. While away they attended the Lions International convention in New York City, and visited relatives in Salem, Ind., St. Louis, Mo., and Kentucky and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chiviges in Michigan.

Students To Learn About Operation Of State's Banks

ORLANDO—It is now possible for high school students to learn about banks, how they operate, and their importance to the community, according to an announcement made here today by J. Carlisle Rogers, Chairman of the Florida Bankers Association Public Relations Committee. Mr. Rogers also is Vice President of the First National Bank, Leesburg.

Under the plan known as the Postorama Program which is being launched on a state wide basis, teachers of business studies, social science, history, economics, current problems, home economics and the like, will have materials made available to them by bankers in Florida through the cooperation of the State Department of Education, County Superintendents, and local High School Principals.

Mr. Rogers stated that "In the Postorama Program may be found the necessary and modern teaching materials which make the chore of teaching money and banking an easy one. Using poster, chart and pictograph, a series of wall charts combined with working materials for both student and teacher, helps the teacher portray America's complex economic and financial machinery. In fact, through such teaching aids, factual and unbiased as they are, teachers and educators feel that the true story of our free enterprise system can be given life and vitality in the classroom and will help stem the tide of loose thinking which is a matter of grave concern to the businessmen and educators alike."

At present there are five units in the Postorama Program. Each unit presents some phase of banking service and its importance to the community. The teacher may present the entire program in five sessions, or ten sessions, depending upon the time that is available. Selected reference readings, activity projects, and direct contacts and visits with local banks are recommended to teachers to round out the theme of the Postorama Program. Every County Superintendent and every bank in the state has a set of the materials. Teachers and principals are being urged to examine the program with a view to its installation during the coming fall school term.

Bond Election Officials Named

The City of Pahokee's bond election for securing funds for the erection of a hospital building for the Everglades Memorial Hospital will be conducted at the city hall August 31st with Mrs. R. J. Schröder, clerk; Mrs. John A. Dulaney, J. B. Elliott and Mrs. B. Elliott, as inspectors. All freeholders are eligible to vote.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Ammons who visited her father, Rufus Lowder, sr., in McClenny, Fla., and her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lowder, Jr., in Homer, Ga., have returned to their home.

FISH ARE BITIN' WE'RE HAVIN' FUN

It's vacation week at The Everglades News office. The office is closed and ye editor is basking in the coolness of giant shade trees along his favorite fishing streams. And, are the fish biting? We'll tell you more about it next week when we have time to tally all of the big catches.

This thing of issuing a newspaper at vacation time—with the office closed and the entire force on vacation—has turned out to be simpler than we had thought for many years. There's really nothing to it. Just a little hocus-mocus and there you have it. Right on time, too!

Local Bible School Will Close Today

The Union vacation Bible school which has been conducted by the Baptist and Methodist churches in Canal Point for the past two weeks will close Friday, August 27th with a commencement exercise in the auditorium of the Baptist Church, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Charles Maxson has been superintendent of the school. Mrs. Dorothy Buchanan, superintendent of the beginners department; Mrs. Mary Chastain, primary department; Mrs. A. R. Scruggs, junior department; and Mrs. Frank Wilson, the intermediate department. Rev. Elmo Scoggins and the Rev. R. A. Fuller pastors of the churches have been conducting the devotional service each morning.

Yow-Yowing In Citrus Industry Continues

LAKELAND—In its first public statement on Florida citrus Mutual, the Cannery League of Florida, composed of 26 independent canners, declared it is "definitely in favor of the idea of growers banding themselves together to improve their lot and the condition of the Florida citrus industry generally," but added that parts of the Mutual plan are "totally impractical and unacceptable" to cash-buyer canners.

At the same time, the League had both praise and criticism for the recent report made public by the Citrus Committee of the Florida Bankers Association.

"Some of our members have been unjustly accused of fighting Mutual," the League statement said. "This is not so. Growers are certainly free to do as they please; whatever objections we have raised have had to do with Mutual's application to process citrus."

"We have no objections to Florida citrus growers cooperating to sell or market their fruit as they see fit. After all, the fruit is theirs; the volume of their production rests with them, and they can do with it what they please. Canners, as one marketing outlet, must live with whatever set-up or program growers choose to adopt. We respect the growers' right to solve their problems, and we only ask equal respect for our rights in marketing our products."

Mayo's Field Men Busy In The State Inspecting Sales

Twenty-five pure food inspectors under the supervision of Phil S. Taylor, Director of the Inspection Bureau of the Department of Agriculture, are working daily in wholesale and retail food stores, cold storage plants, and markets dispensing food items. These inspectors, according to Nathan Mayo, Commissioner of Agriculture, are charged with the responsibility of detecting spoilages, candling and grading of eggs, and inspection of live and dressed poultry, as well as checking the general sanitary appearance of the food outlet. They also carry a highly sensitive set of balances and weights with which to weigh items of food which are packaged either by the manufacturer or the local merchant.

"During the month of August these men, in addition to their other duties, are checking bread, rolls, and other bakery products to ascertain whether or not the customer is getting what he pays for. During the first seven months of 1948, 47,787 packages of food were weighed, and whenever shortages occurred, either Stop Sales were ordered or the dealer requested to bring the items up to the declared net weight."

In pointing out the accuracy of packages in advance of sale, Mr. Mayo stated that since the Weights and Measures Law became effective not one of Florida's retail or wholesale merchants has faced prosecution for violation of the Weights and Measures Law. He stated, however, that some shortages have been found, due in many cases to faulty scales, but in each case the merchant was not only too glad to make the correction and have the scales repaired. The inspectors have also found many items weighed by Florida merchants to be overweight due to the same cause.

The twenty-five inspectors doing food work have had special training, either at the University of Florida or from schools conducted by a representative of the Federal Department of Agriculture. This training has enabled these men to have a keen sense of detection on items of food offered for sale which are not fit for human consumption and to perform their other duties in an efficient manner. Such items, if and when found, are immediately seized and destroyed.

"If possible to do so," Mayo says, "the food inspection work will be intensified in the future so that Florida may become as free as possible of contaminated foods, short weights, or unsanitary conditions in food dispensing places of business."

George M. Belk, Jr., has returned to this home here from Anderson, S. C. where he spent several weeks visiting his uncle. He was accompanied on his return by David Cunningham who spent a month with his grandmother, Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, sr., in Sumpter, S. C.

St. Petersburg Merchants Buys Bugs By Thousands To Prove Killing Power Of A New Paint He Sells

(By Russell Kay)
Before you express the opinion that newspaper advertising doesn't get results, you'd better have a talk with Frank Baker, head of the paint department at Rieck & Fleece, home builders department store in St. Petersburg.

Not long ago Baker took on a new line of paint, a Florida product manufactured by Dianol, Inc., at St. Petersburg, a combination paint-insecticide that is guaranteed to kill insects upon contact. It is known as Dianol which contains a new insecticide D-3 that is deadly to insects but perfectly harmless to humans and animals.

Secret of the product is that the insecticide is homogeneously mixed with the pigment of the paint, thus having full killing power for the life of the paint. In addition, the company produces a powder that can be mixed with any flat oil or water base paint to obtain the same insect-killing results.

To prove the claim made for this amazing product and satisfy the Doubting Thomases, Baker conceived the brilliant idea of holding a public demonstration at which bugged onlookers could see the insects die when placed on surfaces painted with Dianol.

But for such a demonstration he must have insects, roaches, ants, water-bugs, termites and in general quantities. He decided to advertise for them and called upon his advertising agency, Alfred L. Lino & Associates of St. Petersburg, to prepare copy for publication in local papers.

The following day display ads appeared which read, "Wanted: insects, bugs, cock-roaches, termites, ants. We want 'em Alive. The following prices are offered: 5c each for 10,000 cockroaches; 1c each for 5,000 termites; $100 for 1,000,000 ants. This isn't a joke. Bring them to our store and see Mr. Baker. We have a new paint which the manufacturer guarantees will kill insects when they walk on it, the killing power lasting as long as the natural life of the paint. We need thousands of bugs for public demonstration to be held at our store Rieck & Fleece, 1216 Central Ave., St. Petersburg."

Within a matter of hours after the ads appeared, bright-eyed eager youngsters began swarming into the store each carrying a jar of live bugs. They poked in cracks, looked under rocks, searched garbage cans, invaded ant hills and they out-Bucked Frank Buck when it came to "bringing 'em back alive."

In no time at all Baker was up to his Adam's apple in bugs. He had can after can of creeping, crawling insects, Mason jars filled with roaches, tin cans full of termites and bottles of ants. At the end of the first horrible day, Mr. Baker was a nervous wreck. he was bug-eyed, his flesh crawled he couldn't think, eat or sleep. Being completely submerged in a world of insects was bad enough, but it was up to Baker to count 'em.

"Here, Mister," the kids would shout gleefully, holding up a container filled to the brim with crawling insects, "110 cockroaches, count 'em." Since each individual roach has a specific value and these young merchants wanted payment in full, there was no way out. Either Baker must take their count or count them himself.

For three mad days this wild stampede continued. Phone calls came in from irate parents of bug-hunting youngsters, who were slowly going mad as their offsprings carried on like starved ant-eaters, diving frantically at every unwary insect that put in an appearance. In one case, a boy and girl had gathered thousands of ants and an unknown number of roaches and then spilled their treasure all over the kitchen floor. Other kids, after digging in garbage pails, came home with their clothes a mess and smelling like an incinerator on a rainy night.

Because of the human interest aroused, both St. Petersburg newspapers featured story after story about the affair. Radio commentators talked about it. The Associated Press and United Press picked up the story. From the standpoint of publicity, it proved a smashing success. Everybody had fun, that is everybody but Mr. Baker. He said he may live but he'll never be the same.

Rieck & Fleece paid out several hundred dollars in cash for bugs but feel they got their money's worth. Their store was jam-packed the day of the demonstration and no one was happier on this occasion than Baker who thrilled as he watched his insect zoo destroyed by the marvelous new product.

Result of the promotion is that St. Petersburg has gone bug-paint crazy. Immediately after the promotion, hundreds of quarts of the paint were sold. Now, according to Baker, these same people who purchased quarts are coming back for gallons to paint their entire home.

A GOOD job of constructive forestry was done when the trees in this area were cut. Mature trees were cleared out, making room for natural reproduction of new growth from seeds dropped by the seed trees left standing. The tag on the tree in the foreground warns producers not to cut the tree. Some states require that at least four healthy seed trees per acre be left standing until the natural reproduction is at least 15 feet high

PRELUDE TO ACCIDENT-

Injury - - - - Death!

Every violation of the center line of safety is a potential prelude to accident.

Crossing into the danger zone can occur at the approach to the top of a hill—on a curve—going into an underpass, or even on the straight highway. That's reckless, dangerous driving! Accident records show that about one half of all fatal traffic accidents result from bad driving habits such as these.

It's your responsibility to yourself, your family and to others who share the road to avoid these "Pass-Pockets" where lurk injury—and death.

Don't let impatient driving tag your conscience with being one of those who contributed to the maiming or death of the hundreds of thousands who will be auto accident victims this year.

You can be a safe driver if you will. It's up to you.

Broward Industry Hires 400 Opening Day Of New Plant

DANIA—New and modern factories of the Rib-N-Rite corp. will open here Monday for the production on a large scale of an attachment for typewriters which displaces the need for carbon paper. The gadget has been described by business equipment, engineers as the greatest single advancement in the art of letter writing since the invention of the typewriter.

Operating on five assembly lines, 400 employees will man the new plant to begin assembly of the Rib-N-Rite attachment for duplicating up to five copies of any original typed forms, statements, documents or letters.

Seigfried Bechhold is president of the corporation.

The plant is one of the largest industrial enterprises in Broward county and a backlog of $10,000,000 in orders assures continued activities for a long period. The office and factory buildings are located in the northern section of this city with facilities for both rail and water transportation.

Situated across from the federal highway just west of the FEC tracks, several acres are now in process of landscaping to form a picturesque setting for the new industry.

The plant is 240 by 150 feet. It and the office building occupy a 16-acre site on U. S. highway No. 1, the Florida East Coast railroad and the Dania cutoff canal.

Employees will have the benefit of group insurance, hospitalization for themselves and families and the services of a nurse and doctor on the premises. There are 900 applications for positions with the firm to date and many of those applying are experienced technicians in the assembly of aircraft.

Since the initial announcement of Rib-N-Rite a few weeks ago, requests for demonstrations, information, literature, pilot models and details of operation have poured in.

Nationally known firms which have placed orders include the American Type Foundry co., the Public Service Company of New Jersey, Edison Industries, Coca Cola co. of Atlanta, Metropolitan Life Insurance co., New York Life Insurance co., Ford Motor co., and others.

Youngsters Frankly Admit That Cheating Is A Common Practice In Schools All Over America Today

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Was there a lot of cheating on exams when you went to school? Youngsters today frankly admit that cheating is a common practice in schools all over America.

To find out where today's teenagers stand on classroom honesty, the Purdue Opinion-Poll for Young People, directed by Dr. H. H. Remmers, asked thousands of high school youngsters all over the nation this question:

If another student tried to copy from your paper during a test, what would you do?

1% said "Tell the teacher,"
53% said "Cover my paper,"
32% said "Let him copy,"
14% were undecided.

To get a rough idea of how widespread cheating is, we asked a nation-wide sample of teenagers to estimate roughly how much cheating went on in their schools. Since balloting was anonymous, they could afford to be frank.

What percentage of the students in your school sometimes cheat on examinations?

36% said "Very few,"
36% said "Quite a few,"
18% said "Most students,"
10% said "Practically everyone."

These estimates leave little doubts that cheating is a fairly common practice in American schools.

Boys are more lenient than girls when it comes to permitting others to copy during an exam. Sixty per cent of the girls state that they'd cover their papers to keep anyone from peeping but less than

	Boys	Girls
Tell the teacher	1%	0%
Cover my paper	45%	60%
Let him copy	40%	27%
Undecided	14%	13%

As youngsters progress through high school many of them change their attitude toward cheating. During their first year in high school, two-thirds of the students are against cheating. By the time they have reached the 12th grade, less than half of them still feel that way.

We may observe this trend by looking at two of the answers:

	Cover my paper	Let him copy
9th grade	68%	20%
10th grade	57%	30%
11th grade	51%	31%
12th grade	46%	40%

What accounts for this change in attitude during four years of high school? Some people believe that parents and teachers bring on a good share of the cheating by placing so much emphasis on high marks. Some youngsters may resort to cheating in order to win approval.

We must also remember that as youngsters grow older they try to act like adults. Many of them are, no doubt, disillusioned by the discovery that some of the ideals they were taught in Sunday school are not taken very seriously in the adult world. Frequently they hear their elders explain away their actions with the excuse that the "end justifies the means." We shouldn't be surprised if some teenagers carry this philosophy into the classroom.

New Federal Hiway Michigan To Miami

TALLAHASSEE — There's going to be a new red line on the Florida road map, showing extension of U. S. Highway 27 from Tallahassee to Miami through the center of the state.

The state road department Tuesday announced the new designation by the American Association of State Highway Officials.

From now on, travelers who start at Mackinaw City, Mich., can follow the same road number all the way to Miami. Heretofore, U. S. 27 stopped at Tallahassee.

The Florida route will go from Tallahassee through Capps, Perry, Mayo, High Springs, Williston, Ocala, Oklawaha, Leesburg, Minneola, West Frostproof, Lake Placid, Harrisburg, Moore Haven, Clewiston and South Bay to Miami.

It will follow Florida state road 20 from Tallahassee to High Spring and State Road 25 from High Springs to Miami.

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

The immortal George M. Cohan, greatest musical comedy producer of all time, brought forth in the "Teen-age" of the 1900's a musical show that was the rage of this and the European continent. That show was "Give My Regards To Broadway." The music of the show, according to world-wide critics, is and will forever stand American, even as American as the Flag of this great country.

"Forty Five Minutes From Broadway" is to be screened at the Prince Theatre, in Pahokee, on Sunday-Monday, August 29-30. The stars of the huge cast are Dan Dally, Nancy Guild, Charles Ruggles and Charles Winniger, and the delightful Fay Bainter. The list of the featured players reads like a roster of the greatest in Hollywood. The play is beautiful . . .

That's right! When you must walk on the highways in rural or suburban areas, always walk on the left side of the road—facing traffic.

There is plenty of reason for this. Last year for every person killed facing traffic three were killed walking with traffic. 24 Floridians lost their lives and 33 were injured walking the wrong way instead of facing oncoming cars. For every daytime fatality there were 4 deaths during the dusk and dark hours. Six more people lost their lives merely standing in the road.

Never assume you are safe when walking on the highways—many times you are hard to see. Then, too, the despicable hit and run driver is still at large—his numbers and his victims increasing. In the first six months of 1946, 78 hit-and-run accidents were recorded in Florida and 16 were killed by these car cowards.

So remember for your own sake—on highways, walk to the left facing traffic—be alert to danger—be alive tomorrow.

Mount Dora Ideal As Town Set-Up

MOUNT DORA—A recent report issued by Mayor J. E. Fortner of Mount Dora lists an outstanding record of achievement for economical operation of the city government. Mount Dora, Lake County's third largest town, has one of the lowest tax rates in the state of Florida and one of the soundest financial ratings in the nation.

The per capita debt is, only $72.97 while other towns of comparable size in the central area have per capita debts of $214 and $188. The millage for 1948 is 5.5 for homesteads and 15.5 for non-exempt property. Since 1946 the millage has been dropping steadily with a decrease of 1.5 mills for homesteads and .5 mills for non-exempt property.

For the past two and a half years, the town has operated at a cost of $22 per capita or approximately one-third less than other cities with a population range of 2500 to 5000 (Mount Dora's population is 3000).

In spite of these tax reductions, several major improvements have been completed since the war years: 78 blocks of city repaving was completed at a cost of $56,769 with no special assessments to property owners. Enlarged the local fire station at a cost of $5,244; purchased a sanitary garbage truck $4,907; installed water and water meters in 172 new homes $16,723; and spent over $50,000 for supplies for the light department.

A municipal bonding company in Miami which figures cities with a rating of 10 or lower are sound financial risks, gives Mount Dora a rating of 3.66 . . . almost a perfect.
